TRUST COMPANIES AS EXECUTORS

In reading of the numerous cases of contested wills reported by the daily press one is forcibly reminded of that old familiar adage, "There's many d slip 'trust the cup and the lip." Yet it will generally be found upon examination of each case that the trouble was due to the inefficiency, inexperience lack of confidence in or dishonesty of the executor. Heirs often become dissatisfied because they do not think the estate is being administered as the testator intended or to the best pecuniary Naming a friend as executor is loading blos with a great responsibility, especially if he is already a busy man and unfamiliar with the technicalities of law and finance.

A PLEASANT WEDDING,

Up to It. One day last June Mr. Gove Chalmer Ainslee of Newark, N. J., a wealthy brass manufacturer, had occasion to visit the census office on business. Desiring certain information he was directed to the division presided over Tailoring Shop. by Mr. J. H. Wardle. Mr. Wardle was absent at the time and one of his assistants, Miss Kate Marshall Fountaine, a charming and attractive young lady, furnished Mr. Ainslee with the debeauty and attractive manners made a deep impression upon Mr. Ainslee, and later he se-cured through Mr. Wardle a formal introduction. Thereafter the gentleman found it necessary to visit the office on more than one occasion, and somehow or other it always became necessary to seek out the same young lady. The acquaintance thus began ripened into friendship, friendship gave place to a more tender attachment, and today at high noon, at her mother's residence, 1736 K stree northwest, that tender attachment culminated as all such attachments should, in marriage.

attired in a traveling dress of blue with silver trimmings and hat, entered the parlor on the arm of her brother, Mr. Chas. W. Fountaine, preceded by the groom and his best man, Mr. William Burroughs of Newark, N. J., and was attended by her youngest sister, Miss Nina. The marriage over a delightful wedding breakfast was served and at 2:30 the happy pair left for the north. They will reside in East Orange, a suburb of Newark. The presents were many and beautiful and comprised about everything that could be desired, the gift of the groom being a magnificent necklace with diamond pendant.

MURDER IS SUSPECTED.

DETROIT, MICH., Sept. 28.-A suspicion of murder has crept into the case of J. H. Wickes, the New York millionaire, who was killed by a fall from the window of a disreputable house here. His friends now declare that he had

$900 in cash on his person when he'entered the place where he met his death, but no trace of the money has since been found. The jury brought in a verdict of accidental death, but

f Power Arising in the West. CHICAGO, Sept. 28 .- D. M. McIntyre, an exbanker of Iowa, is quoted in a local paper as saying that he is in the city for the purpose of organizing "Gideon Bands." It will be remembered that dispatches were sent from Washington, D. C., some time since reciting the history of a secret political organization called the "Gideonites." This order, it was stated, was a branch of the Farmers' Alliance and third party movement, and had for its object the overthrow of the old parties. Mr. Mc-Intyre states that he is meeting with great success in this city.
